about it.

Join us for a Making Change simulation!

Making Change™ (aka "The Change Game")

An interactive simulation where participants step into a real-world school change scenario and experience the challenges, resistance, communication dynamics, and leadership decisions involved in implementing new practices.

Through hands-on gameplay and team interaction, participants explore the human side of organizational change and build practical strategies for leading successful improvement efforts.

Teams work together to navigate realistic implementation challenges in real time.

What You'll Gain

- » Practical strategies for leading organizational change
- » Stronger communication and team alignment skills
- » Real-world insight into the challenges and dynamics of implementation

Ideal for: School leaders, educators, district teams, and community organizations implementing new initiatives or navigating organizational change.
